1984-1985
Report of the President

The State of the College

The state of Lebanon Valley College is excellent! By all of the important measures—quality of faculty and students, creative activity among members of the College community, financial solidity, community service, enhanced church relations, meaningful planning for the future, and steady movement toward our chosen objectives—LVC enjoys a time of growing strength, great vitality, and a clear awareness of both new accomplishments and increased opportunities. In short, both the current well-being of the College and its prospects are outstanding; the institution is at a stage of genuine momentum.

Positive 1984-85 Financial Performance

Financially, the institution is in a very strong position as a result of this year's positive fiscal performance. The remaining debt on the new $6 million Garber Science Center will be retired in February, two years ahead of schedule. In addition, for the first time in the College's history, the LVC Endowment Fund exceeds $6.3 million (market value).

Figure 1 indicates the general sources of 1984-85 income ($9,577,347) and major categories of 1984-85 expenditures ($9,431,340). Above-budget performances from endowment and investment activities, conferences and the annual giving campaign yielded an overall income for the year which was at 111½ percent of budget, and expenditures were at 108 percent of budget, leaving a positive variance of 3½ percent.

Aside from a significant net income in operations for 1984-85, the overall increase in fund balances for the year is well beyond a million and a half dollars.

Annual Giving Campaign Sets New Records

The extraordinary efforts expended by trustee Tom Reinhart, his Board Development Cabinet, with the LVC development staff and more than one hundred trustee, alumni, faculty, staff and student volunteers, resulted in the receipt of unrestricted gifts totalling $614,000, restricted gifts of $312,000, and 1984-85 contributions for the Garber Science Center of $871,000. The chart in Figure 2 details the source of these funds and compares them to 1983-84 fund-raising efforts.

Significantly, all of the annual giving funds, unless otherwise restricted, are dedicated to scholarships and financial aid to deserving LVC students.

Six-Year Plan

In acknowledging our response to the 1984 Commissioners' Accreditation Report, Dr. Rose Channing, chairman of the Middle States Association, said, "The Commission commends the College for the efforts the report reflects and notes particularly the attention being paid to overall institutional planning."

Indeed, strategic and tactical planning have been high-priority items on this year's agenda. The Strategic Planning Committee, commissioned in January, 1984, completed its final draft in January, 1985 after months of careful and thoughtful consideration. The Board of Trustees approved the document at their meeting in February.

Meanwhile, the Ad Hoc Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics diligently pursued the charge I had given them on November 16, 1984 to examine all dimensions of our Lebanon Valley College intercollegiate athletic program.

The Strategic Planning Committee met weekly for several months; the Intercollegiate Athletics Committee met twenty-six times before submitting its excellent report June 7, 1985. Both documents are the beginning, not the end, of the planning process and promise to give a coherent and cohesive sense of direction for future program and facility development at the College.

Curriculum Development—New Programs

After careful consideration by the Faculty Curriculum Committee, plans were proposed to expand student career options by adding several new educational offerings commencing with the 1985-86 academic year. Both the LVC faculty and the Board of Trustees approved the following: general studies degrees, offered on both the baccalaureate and associate degree level; associate degree programs for those interested in the hospitality industry (food service, hotel and travel administration); and a baccalaureate program in administration for health care professionals.

After many months of exploratory talks with several quality institutions concerning an MBA (Master of Business Administration) degree to be offered at Lebanon Valley College, agreement was reached in January with the Philadelphia College of Textiles and Science to offer graduate work at LVC beginning in the summer of 1985. A major reason for the selection of PCTS for this partnership was that their strong MBA program was clearly designed for working adults. The response from both corporations and individuals has been most gratifying. The first course has been completed, and two additional courses are scheduled for the fall term.

To support the curriculum in all areas of study, we intensified efforts to update and expand our computer capabilities through additional hardware and software. Library facilities also have been reorganized and improved.

The highly-respected LVC academic program that has produced seven Fulbright-level scholars in the last nine years continued this year to yield a large number of highly-prized graduate-level scholarships and fellowships at such prestigious schools as Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cornell University and the University of Georgia.

Academic Personnel Changes

The heart of any educational institution is its faculty. When retirements of long-time, valued members come, it is always a sad moment for students and staff colleagues alike. This year three distinguished members of the LVC faculty retired—Jean Love (psychology), Tony Neidig (chemistry), and Jake Rhodes (physics). We will miss them terribly. Fortunately, each of them will still be involved in various college activities, so we view their retirement as only partial.

Another valued member of the staff, Richard Reed, dean of the faculty, will also be leaving LVC this fall. He goes to a new position as dean of arts and sciences at Western New England College in Springfield, Massachusetts. Dr. John Norton of the LVC political science department has agreed to serve as acting dean for the next academic year while the search for a new dean of faculty takes place.

The Leadership College

In last year's President's Report, I emphasized what I called the "leadership imperative." This four-tiered program—for high school students, for LVC's undergraduates, for middle managers, and for top-level executives—is off to a sound and exciting start. The past academic year saw the implementation of the high school program, the initiation of the college-level program (which will be refined and expanded in 1985–86) and the offering of several well-received middle manager leadership development seminars. The leadership program for top executives will begin later this fall.

Student Activities in 1984–85

Throughout the 1984–85 academic year a wide variety of extracurricular activities offered our students opportunities for intellectual, cultural and spiritual growth. These events included fall campus visits by Lt. Gov. William Scranton and American University President Richard Berendsen; a sharing by all members of the College community in the traditional Thanksgiving festival and Christmas concert; second semester speakers Carl Eller and Jerald terHorst; the Alumni Chorale presentation of Bach's B-minor Mass; several campus presentations by noted sacred music composer and authority Ellen Jane Lorenz Porter; and baccalaureate and commencement speakers David Gockley and James Gallagher.

In addition, opportunities to hear the finest in musical performance were offered through the faculty recital series. The Master Series, consisting of a wide variety of exciting presentations, supplemented outstanding student recitals and theatrical offerings.

Characteristic of positive, innovative student leadership in 1984–85 was the transformation of one of the Allan W. Mund College Center rooms into a weekend, non-alcoholic pub. Representatives from twelve student organizations worked closely with members of the student council and student activities staff to create this popular, weekend retreat named "The Underground."

Church Relations and Campus Religious Activities

Student religious activities at Lebanon Valley College increased significantly in 1984–85. Coordinated by the chaplain and under the sponsorship of the new Council of Religious Organizations (comprised of various religious fellowships), both campus and off-campus activities flourished. Typical were the deputations and concerts by Delta Tau Chi and the musical group HIS, church service performances by the Chapel Singers, PROJECT's foster grandparent program and visits to the Veterans Hospital, and the Friday evening Campus Christian Fellowship sponsored by the council itself.

Church relations were also strengthened during the past year. Meetings among United Methodist leaders and college officials opened up fruitful discussions on ways in which the College and the Church can be mutually supportive. Presentations at church conferences allowed us to express our gratitude for and our suggestions about church relationships.

Church relationships at LVC extend beyond the United Methodist Church, and every effort was made in 1984–85 to work with our colleagues from other denominations. For example, our friend Bishop William Keeler asked me if I would respond to the Catholic bishops' recent letter on the American economy before the Pennsylvania Interfaith Council, a body of bishops from all churches in the state. I have continued to work with Bishop Keeler's office on this and other matters. In addition, a grant this year from the Jewish Chautauqua Society will provide funds to offer a course on Judaism at LVC.

Special Programs Expands Offerings

The new Special Programs Division has responsibility for a number of programs which supplement the traditional undergraduate curriculum at LVC. These responsibilities include the Program for Adult Learners (evening school and weekend college); the cooperative MBA program; the University Center program in Harrisburg; summer school; the program for high school youth scholars; summer camps, clinics and conferences; and the Leadership Development Institute (middle manager program). As the "out-reach" arm of the College, the Special Programs Division is making every effort to expand its educational service to South Central Pennsylvania. Significant advances were made in 1984-85, and ambitious plans for this division have been made for 1985-86 and beyond.

Admissions

The emphasis of the admissions office this year has been upon increasing the quality of applicants for the 1985-86 school year. To support this effort, eighteen new Presidential Leadership Scholarships were offered to young people whose scholarship was matched by their commitment to leadership. As a result of this innovation, a most impressive number of top scholar-leaders competed for these top awards. Of the 225 applicants, 87 have enrolled in addition to the eighteen winners. A record number of outstanding scholars also competed for sixteen Trustee Scholarships awarded on the basis of academic achievement.

Although the strategic plan called for SAT scores to average 100 points above the national average by 1991, we have already achieved that goal! The class of 1989, as presently constituted, has an average combined SAT score 103 points above the national average.

While the quality of our entering freshmen for the fall of 1985 is up, the number of our matriculants is down somewhat, consistent with the experience this year of other private, competing institutions in the Northeast.

Alumni Services and College Relations

Both alumni services and college relations have strengthened their programs this year by expanding communications with our alumni and by increasing LVC's visibility in the press and the electronic media.

Throughout 1984-85, alumni services emphasized the following management objectives: re-informing alumni about present-day Lebanon Valley College; increasing the opportunity for student interaction with our graduates; revitalizing area alumni chapters to help strengthen student recruitment; recommending alumni members for the proposed Academic Visiting Committees; providing a current alumni directory; and serving as an on-campus liaison for the ongoing work of our strong alumni association. As a result, alumni volunteerism in many areas of college life is again on the rise, and alumni giving is at an all-time high.

College relations have been greatly enhanced through the personal contact of staff members with media leaders and through an expanded flow of public service announcements, press releases, press conferences and feature articles. So successful were the informational efforts of our public relations staff that 86% of all notices emanating from their office was carried in one or more newspapers or on radio and television.

To supplement these informational programs, a large number of personal appearances by College faculty and staff increased the awareness of local, regional and national audiences as to what LVC, "the leadership college," has been doing to address the nation's changing educational needs.

The Moving Finger Writes

Along with all of the good news about our new momentum at Lebanon Valley College comes sad news as well. During the past year two eras have ended. First, the era of the much-beloved Dr. Sam "Soggy" Grimm—LVC student, professor, administrator—who graced the campus with his indomitable will, brilliant mind and compassionate spirit for more than seventy years. Second, the era of Dr. Bertha Brossman Blair, benefactor, friend, advisor, a legend in her own time. We will so miss these two great forces in our institutional life.

We were deeply saddened as well by the death of a dedicated former trustee, Mrs. Sally Stauffer, and the untimely passing of our dear friend and colleague, Dr. Leonard Geissel, Jr., assistant professor of music, and of a second year student, Mary Ellen Bartashus.

Aside from these moments of deep sadness and the sense of loss we all continue to feel, it has been a good year, a year filled with the excitement of creative response to a changing educational environment and the challenge of continuing to serve our mission faithfully and well.

For the Peterson family, it has been a year made joyous through the friendship and support of all members of our College family. We pledge our continued, best efforts to make LVC "a very special place" in which to live and learn, to lead and to serve.

Thanks to our chairman, Thomas Reinhart '58, and one hundred dedicated alumni and friends who served as campaign volunteers, we surpassed our unrestricted goal of $600,000 and met our restricted goal (excluding government funds) of $312,000.

Under the leadership of our 1985-86 campaign chairman, E. Peter Strickler '47, we are looking forward to meeting this year's goals of $650,000 in unrestricted monies and $350,000 in restricted monies.

During the 1984-85 academic year, over $700,000 in LVC funds was distributed to members of our full-time student body. Eighty-five percent of our students receive some form of financial aid. Over $1,000,000 in scholarships and financial aid will be distributed during the 1985-86 year.

Purpose: To purchase video equipment and to provide necessary funds for the gymnasium improvement project.

Association for the Arts and Humanities

Goal: $20,000

Purpose: To bring visiting artists and speakers to campus and to provide necessary funds for the Allan W. Mund College Center's Little Theatre improvement project.

Endowed Scholarships

Purpose: To supplement the many funds that have been established to provide scholarships to deserving students in various disciplines and in memory of LVC faculty, alumni and friends.

1985-1986 Giving Clubs

Invitations to the September 27 Leadership Club Dinner of Appreciation were sent to all 1984-1985 club members. The speaker for the dinner will be Richard E. Scammon, director of Elections Research Center and elections analyst for NBC. A well-known television personality, Scammon has covered national elections for twenty years.

During the academic year, each club member will receive additional invitations and information about events limited to his/her specific giving club membership.

Club recognition levels have been established for 1985-86 as follows:

Professors Emeriti	$ 125-$ 679 (Senior Citizens, 65 and over)
Professors Club	$ 170-$ 679 (1 Week's Tuition, 1 student)
Deans Club	$ 680-$ 1,359 (1 Month's Tuition, 1 student)
Presidents Club	$ 1,360-$ 3,299 (2 Month's Tuition, 1 student)
Leadership Society	$ 3,300-$ 6,599 (1 Semester's Tuition, 1 student)
Founders Society	$ 6,600-$13,199 (1 Year's Tuition, 1 student)
Trustee Associates	$13,200 or more (1 Year's Tuition, 2 students)

Annual Phonathon

During the 1984-1985 campaign, which ended June 30, 1985, many LVC students volunteered to help with such fund raising activities as the phona-thon and Leadership Day '85. A special thanks goes to all of these students.

Each semester, the development office provides one or two students the opportunity to intern with the department, learning basic fund raising philosophies and techniques. For the fall semester, Barbara Sbraccia '87 of Folsom, Pennsylvania, will intern as coordinator of the 1985-86 Annual Giving Phonathon scheduled to run October 13 through November 7.

Class of '85

The Class of '85 is the first graduating class to begin an endowed scholarship fund in their name. Class members have pledged gifts over a five-year period and have set a goal of $25,000 by 1990, their fifth anniversary year. Class officers will present the first scholarship award in the fall of 1990.

Subsequent graduating classes will conduct a mini-campaign to receive funds for scholarships in their class names.

Foundation Visits

Throughout the past year, President Peterson and I have visited several area foundations and corporations to spread the LVC message of Leadership, Values and Community. We have been warmly received and our efforts have been fruitful. More visits are scheduled for the fall and spring. If you are associated with any boards of foundations or corporations, please contact the LVC development office.

Planned Giving Programs

An Estate Planning Seminar was held in May for LVC friends and alumni in Lebanon County. Another seminar, which will be open to all interested alumni and friends, tentatively has been scheduled for November, 1985.

The LVC Endowment Society, founded this year, gives the development office an opportunity to thank alumni and friends now for remembering LVC in their estate plans (wills, trusts, insurance policies).

Class Agent Program

The Class Agent Program has been reinstated at Lebanon Valley College. During the 1985-1986 Campaign, alumni will hear from fellow classmates about their participation as a class in the annual giving campaign. This correspondence also may be used for communicating personal news, class updates and reunion information. Each class agent receives from the development office a handbook, updated class information, and guidance in preparing letters. The development office assumes the responsibility and cost for preparation and mailing of all correspondence.

Class agents are still needed for the following years:

1904-1920	1942	1965
1922	1943	1966
1923	1944	1967
1924	1945	1968

1937	1958	1976
1938	1962	1977
1940	1963	1983
	1964

If you are interested in serving as class agent, please contact our office.

LVC Parents Club

Efforts to form an LVC Parents Club now are underway. Membership will be open to parents of alumni and current students. More information will be available this fall.

Staff Changes

On June 1, 1985 Mrs. Kathleen "Kitty" Thach '85 joined the development staff as assistant director of development. Kitty replaces Mr. Joseph P. Wengyn III '82 who served his alma mater well for more than two years. (We all wish Joe well in his new career.)

For the past eight years, Kitty has been employed by LVC in the offices of admissions and communications. She is the mother of two alumni: David Blaich '84 and Beth Blaich '85.

If you have any questions, concerns, ideas or comments, or if you need any information, please do not hesitate to contact our office at (717) 867-6222 Monday through Friday between 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m.
